

WWW.BOLCHAZY.COM

This year's Roman Calendar features many of the "people" of the new AP® Latin syllabus: from authors to Roman emperors, from epic heroes to one highly notable landform (can you guess which one?), these figures figure prominently in our textbooks designed for the new AP® Latin Exam.

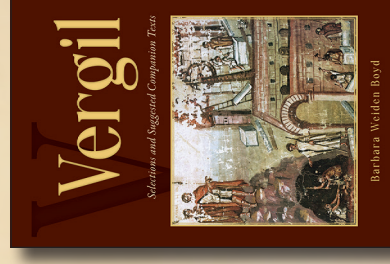

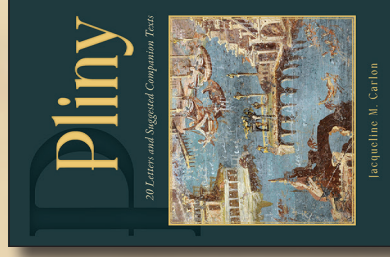

Pliny: 20 Letters and Suggested Companion Texts (Jacqueline M. Carlon) contains Pharr-style commentary for ten of Pliny the Younger's letters required by the new syllabus, as well as ten suggested letters. Companion texts that complement the writings of Pliny give students more practice with reading unadapted Latin. Eutropius's history about the emperor Trajan lends insight into an important correspondent in Book 10 of Pliny's letters. Selections from Rafael Landívar's poem Rusticatio Mexicana offer a verse description of a major volcanic eruption in central Mexico that occurred in the eighteenth century—an interesting comparison with Pliny's writings about Vesuvius in Letters 6.16 and 6.20. Seneca's Epistulae Morales 79.1–4 also touch on volcanic geology. The Res Gestae of Augustus, a letter from Cicero's Ad Familiares, and various inscriptions further illuminate literary features, themes, and other elements of Pliny's writings.

Vergil: Selections and Suggested Companion Texts (Barbara Weiden Boyd) presents all required passages from Vergil's Aeneid with Pharr-style commentary. Joining familiar figures—pius Aeneas, raging Juno, lovelorn Dido, snake-stricken Laocoön—from the previous syllabus are memorable characters like the fierce bellatrix Camilla and ill-fated warrior Turnus. In addition to the syllabus selections, companion texts draw interesting parallels with the Aeneid. Ariadne, abandoned on Naxos in Catullus 64, is a precursor to Dido. Among the several Odes of Horace in the volume, Ode 1.37 depicts Ptolemaic queen Cleopatra, another Dido-like figure. The tragic Sophonisba of Petrarch's epic, Africa, is a third African noblewoman brought low by love and conflict with the Romans. Other poems combine the private with the public grandeur of epic: selections from Ovid's Tristia describe the poet's personal tragedy—his exile from Rome—as his own fall of Troy. Companion texts include elegy as well, from the works of Catullus to Sulpicia

Who from this dazzling array of writers, characters, historical figures, and more can you spot in each month's artwork? Look out for Camilla and her father Metabus, Aeneas, Anchises, Ascanius, Turnus, Juno, Dido, Sophonisba, Ovid, Trajan, Pliny the Elder, Vesuvius, Augustus, and more!

Check out our textbooks aligned to the new AP® Latin syllabus, as well as our full lineup of support workbooks, notebooks, and online interactive test prep. As always Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers strives to provide all the AP® in one place.

Textbooks aligned to the new Pliny and Vergil AP syllabus are available now!

WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS

Roma Alma Mater

Calendar
2025-2026

Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers, Inc. • www.BOLCHAZY.COM

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Silent . . . lēgēs inter arma.
In time of war the laws are silent. (Cicero)
2. Multa senem circumveniunt incommoda.
Many inconveniences surround an old man. (Anon.)
3. Omnēs ūna manet nox.
One night remains for us all. (Horace)
4. Variat omnia tempus.
Time changes everything. (Anon.)
5. Verba movent, exempla trahunt.
Words move people, examples draw them on. (Anon.)
6. Acta exteriōra indicant interiōra secrēta.
Exterior acts indicate interior secrets. (Legal)
7. Lupus pilum mutat, nō mentem.
The wolf changes his hair (skin) but not his mind. (Anon.)
8. Furor arma ministrat.
Anger furnishes arms. (P. Vergilius Maro)
9. Fidus in adversis cognoscitur omnis amicus.
A faithful friend is recognized in adverse circumstances. (Anon.)
10. Crūdēlis est in rē adversā objurgātiō.
When a person is in trouble, scolding him is a cruel thing to do. (Pubilius Syrus)
11. Venter praecepta nōn audit.
The stomach does not hear advice. (Seneca)
12. Duobus litigantibus, tertius gaudet.
When two people are quarreling, the third gets the profit. (Medieval)
13. Ubi opēs, ibi amici.
Where wealth is, there friends are. (Anon.)
14. Saevis pax quaeritur armīs.
Peace is sought by savage arms. (P. Papinius Statius)
15. Ostendit sermō mōrēs animūque latentem.
A person's speech shows his character and his inner personality. (Medieval)
16. Saepe summa ingenia in occulto latent.
Often the greatest minds lie hidden. (Plautus)
17. Lātrante ūnō, lātrat statim et alter canis.
When one dog barks, another dog immediately starts to bark. (Anon.)

18. Multa sub vultu odia, multa sub ōculō latent.
Many types of hatred lie hidden under a pleasant expression and (even) under a kiss. (Medieval)
19. Saepe tacēns vōcem verbaque vultus habet.
Often a silent face has voice and words. (Ovid)
20. Crēscit in adversis virtūs.
Courage increases in dangerous circumstances. (Lucan)
21. Saepe, premente deō, fert deus alter opem.
Often, when one god is hostile, another god brings help. (Ovid)
22. Nōn omnis fert omnia tellūs.
Not every land brings forth all kinds of fruit. (Anon.)
23. Jējūnus venter nōn audit verba libenter.
A hungry stomach does not gladly listen to speeches. (Medieval)
24. Verba dat omnis amor.
Every lover deceives the person he loves. (Ovid)
25. Dē hōc multi multa, omnēs aliquid, nēmō satis.
Concerning this, many people know much, everybody knows something, and nobody knows enough. (Anon.)
26. Piscis captivus vinum vult, flūmina vivus.
A fish when caught needs wine, a live fish needs the river. (Medieval)
27. Ipsa scientia potestās est.
Knowledge itself is power. (Sir Francis Bacon, 1561–1626, English philosopher and essayist)
28. Plumbum aurum fit.
Lead becomes gold. (Petronius Arbiter, 43, adapted)
29. Post calamitatem memoria alia est calamitās.
After a disaster, the memory of it is another disaster. (Pubilius Syrus)
30. Ōscula, nōn oculi, sunt in amōre ducēs.
Kisses, and not eyes, are the leaders in love. (Anon.)

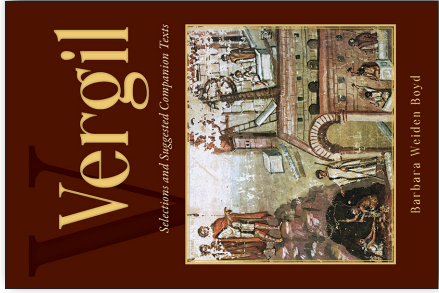

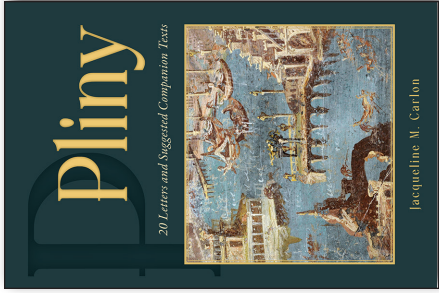

September 2025 & MMXXV &

NEW

All the AP®
in One Place

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
	I • KALENDAE	II • IV NON.	III • III NON.	IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE	VI • VIII IDVS
VII • VII IDVS		PROELIUM ACTII XXXI AC
	VIII • VI IDVS	IX • V IDVS	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS	XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS
LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI
XIV • XVIII KAL.	XV • XVII KAL.	XVI • XVI KAL.	XVII • XV KAL.	XVIII • XIV KAL.	XIX • XIII KAL.	XX • XII KAL.
LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI	LUDI ROMANI
XXI • XI KAL.	XXII • X KAL.	XXIII • IX KAL.	XXIV • VIII KAL.	XXV • VII KAL.	XXVI • VI KAL.	XXVII • V KAL.
	AUGUSTUS NATUS EST, LXIII AC
XXVIII • IV KAL.	XXIX • III KAL.	XXX • PRIDIE KAL.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Formosa faciēs mūta commendatiō est.
A pretty face is a silent commendation. (Publilius Syrus)
2. Famēs est optimus coquus.
Hunger is the best cook. (Anon.)
3. Nēmō malus fēlix.
No bad man is happy. (Juvenal, Satires 4.8)
4. Rēs est forma fugāx.
Beauty is a fleeting thing. (Seneca, Phaedra 7.7.3)
5. Habet Deus suās hōrās et morās.
God has his hours and his delays. (Anon.)
6. Nōbilitās sola est atque unica virtūs.
Virtue is the sole and only kind of nobility. (Juvenal, Satires 8.20)
7. Senectūs ipsa est morbus.
Old age all by itself is a disease. (Terence, Phormio 575)
8. Fortūna caeca est.
Fortune is blind. (Anon.)
9. Rēbus in hūmānis Rēgina Pecūnia nauta est.
In human affairs Queen Money is the one who runs the ship. (Medieval)
10. Fortūna nunquam perpetuō est bona.
Fortune is never always good. (Robert Burton)
11. Montāni semper liberi.
Mountaineers are always free. (Motto of West Virginia)
12. Patientia rara virtūs.
Patience is a rare virtue. (Anon.)
13. Dominus illuminatiō mea.
God is my light. (Motto of Oxford University)
14. Mors tua vita mea.
Your death is my life. (Anon.)
15. Nulla terra exilium est sed altera patria.
No land is an exile but simply another native land. (Seneca, De Rem. Fort. 8.1)
16. Vana est sine viribus ira.
Anger without strength to enforce it is empty. (Anon.)
17. Nulla calamitās sola.
Disaster is never alone. (Anon.—It never rains but it pours.)
18. Aspiciunt oculis superi mortalia iūstis.
The gods look on mortal acts with just eyes. (Ovid, Metamorphoses 13.70)
19. Vir bonus est animal rārum.
A good man is a rare creature. (Medieval)
20. Est cetum praesēns, sed sunt incerta futura.
The present is certain, but the future is uncertain. (Medieval)
21. Sola nōbilitās virtūs.
Courage is the only real nobility. (Motto)
22. Litterae sine mōribus vānae.
Education without good morals is useless. (Motto of University of Pennsylvania)
23. Salus publica suprema lēx.
The public safety is the supreme law. (Legal)
24. Optima medicina temperantia est.
The best medicine is moderation. (Anon.)
25. Spiritus quidem prōmptus est, carō vērō infirma.
The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak. (St. Mark, New Testament)
26. Victōria naturā est insolēns et superba.
By its nature victory is insolent and haughty. (Cicero, Pro Marcello 3.9, adapted)
27. Dulce pōmum cum abest custōs.
The apple is sweet when the watchman is absent. (Anon.)
28. Necessitas . . . ultimum ac maximum telum est.
Necessity is the last and greatest weapon. (Titus Livius, Ab urbe condita 4.28.)
29. Laudatur ab his, culpatur ab illis.
He is praised by some, blamed by others. (Horace, Satires 1.2.11.)
30. Nullis amor est sanabilis herbis.
Love is curable by no herbs. (Ovid, Metamorphoses 1.523.)
31. Malus bonum ubi se simulat tunc est pessimus.
When a bad man pretends that he is a good man, then he is at his worst. (Publilius Syrus)

October 2025 & MMXXV &

NEW

A Student-Friendly Approach to Ancient Greek

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
			I • KALENDAE	II • VI Non.	III • V Non.	IV • IV Non.
V • III Non.	VI • PRIDIE NON.	VII • NONAE	VIII • VIII Idvs	IX • VII Idvs	X • VI Idvs	XI • V Idvs
					MEDITRINALIA
XII • IV Idvs	XIII • III Idvs	XIV • PRIDIE Idvs	XV • Idvs	XVI • XVII Kal.	XVII • XVI Kal.	XVIII • XV Kal.
FONTINALIA			P. VIRGILIUS MARO POETA NATUS EST LXX AC
XIX • XIV Kal.	XX • XIII Kal.	XXI • XII Kal.	XXII • XI Kal.	XXIII • X Kal.	XXIV • IX Kal.	XXV • VIII Kal.
ARMILUSTRIUM
XXVI • VII Kal.	XXVII • VI Kal.	XXVIII • V Kal.	XXIX • IV Kal.	XXX • III Kal.	XXXI • PRIDIE Kal.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Post hoc, propter hoc.
After something, because of something.
(Commonplace; a fallacy in logic.)
2. Cum jocus est vērus, jocus est malus atque sevērus.
When a joke is true, the joke is a bad thing and a cruel thing. (Medieval)
3. Similia similibus cūrantur.
Like things are cured by like. (Samuel Hahnemann)
4. In angustis amici boni appārent.
Good friends appear in difficulties. (Anon.)
5. Forma virōs negligētia decet.
A careless appearance is suitable for men. (Ovid, Art of Love 1.509)
6. Qui tenet anguillam per caudam nōn habet illam.
Who holds an eel by the tail does not (really) hold him. (Medieval)
7. Finis coronat opus.
The end crowns the work. (Medieval)
8. Jūcūndi actī labōrēs.
Past labors are pleasant. (Cicero, De finibus 2.32.105)
9. Concordia rēs est in rēbus maximē adversis utilis.
In situations that are particularly unfavorable, harmony is a useful thing. (Anon.)
10. Saxum volūtum nōn obducitur muscō.
A rolling stone is not covered with moss. (Anon.; a rolling stone gathers no moss.)
11. Multa docet famēs.
Hunger teaches us much. (Anon.)
12. Fūnum fugiēns in ignem incidit.
Fleeing smoke, he falls into the fire. (Medieval; out of the frying pan, into the fire.)
13. Ex pede Herculem.
From his foot we can recognize Hercules. (Anon.)
14. Nihil est... simul et inventum et perfectum.
Nothing is at once discovered and perfected. (Cicero, Brutus 70)
15. Semel ēmissum volat irrepārābile verbum.
A word once spoken flies away and cannot be recovered. (Horace, Epistles 1.18.71)
16. Vēr nōn ūna diēs, nōn ūna reducit hīrūdō.
One day does not bring spring, nor does one swallow. (Anon.; one swallow does not make a summer.)
17. Leōnem mortuum et catuli mordent.
Even puppies bite a dead lion. (Medieval)
18. Jējunus rārō stomachus vulgāria temnit.
A hungry stomach rarely despises common food. (Horace, Satires 2.2.38)
19. Quod vērum, tūtum.
What is true, is safe. (Anon.)
20. Vincit omnia vēritās.
Truth conquers all. (Motto)
21. Magna civitas magna solitūdō.
A great city is a great solitude. (Anon.)
22. Nōn mē dēridet quī sua facta videt.
The person who sees his own acts does not make fun of me. (Anon.)
23. Nēmō suā sorte contentus.
No one is content with his lot. (Anon.)
24. Facile est imperium in bonis.
Rule over good people is easy. (Plautus, Miles Gloriosus 611)
25. Mea anima est tamquam tabula rāsa.
My mind is like a clean tablet. (Renaissance; Pauli?)
26. Omne initium est difficile.
Every beginning is difficult. (Anon.)
27. Omnibus in rēbus gravis est inceptiō prima.
In all things the first undertaking is hard. (Anon.)
28. Nūlla diēs maerōre caret.
No day lacks sorrow. (Medieval)
29. Qui tōtum vult, tōtum perdit.
Who wants all, loses all. (Anon.)
30. Nōn sine causā sed sine fine laudātus.
He is praised not without reason but without end. (Anon.)

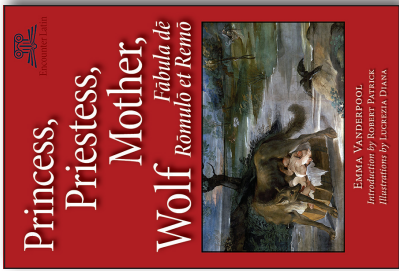

November 2025 & MMXXV &

NEW

A new Latin-language novella retells Rome’s foundation legend—with a twist!

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
						I • KALENDAE
II • IV NON.	III • III NON.	IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE	VI • VIII IDVS	VII • VII IDVS	VIII • VI IDVS
				ORATIO CICERONIS PRIMA CONTRA CATILINAM, LXIII AC		LUDI PLEBEII
IX • V IDVS	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS	XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS	XIV • XVIII KAL.	XV • XVII KAL.
LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII
XVI • XVI KAL.	XVII • XV KAL.	XVIII • XIV KAL.	XIX • XIII KAL.	XX • XII KAL.	XXI • XI KAL.	XXII • X KAL.
LUDI PLEBEII	LUDI PLEBEII
XXIII • IX KAL.	XXIV • VIII KAL.	XXV • VII KAL.	XXVI • VI KAL.	XXVII • V KAL.	XXVIII • IV KAL.	XXIX • III KAL.
XXX • PRIDIE KAL.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Omnis instabilis et incerta felicitas est.
Every prosperity is unstable and uncertain. (Seneca, Controuersiae 1.1.3)
2. Virtus mille scuta.
Courage is a thousand shields. (Motto)
3. Quis pauper? Avarus.
Who is the poor man? The miser. (Pseudo-Ausonius)
4. Sua multi amittunt, cupidè dum alièna appetunt.
Many lose their own belongings while they greedily seek belongings of others. (Anon.)
5. Ius summum saepe summa est malitia.
The highest law is often the highest evil. (Terence, Heautontimoroumenos 796)
6. Nòn bene flat flammam qui continet òre farinam.
It is not a good idea for a person who has flour in his mouth to blow a flame out. (Medieval)
7. Iràcundiam qui vincit, hostem superat maximum.
Who conquers anger conquers his greatest enemy. (Publius Syrus)
8. Qualis vir, talis oratio.
As a man is, so is his speech. (Anon.)
9. Nigrum in candida vertunt.
They turn black into white. (Juvenal)
10. Duce tempus eget.
The times need a leader. (Lucan)
11. Multi enim sunt vocati, pauci verò electi.
For many are called, but few are chosen. (St. Matthew, New Testament)
12. Spina etiam grata est, ex qua spectatur rosa.
Even a thorn bush is pleasant, from which a rose is seen. (Publius Syrus)
13. Quot campò leporès, tot sunt in amòre dolòrès.
There are as many sorrows in love as there are rabbits in the field. (Medieval)
14. Felicitè sapit qui periculò alienò sapit.
Who becomes wise through someone else's difficulties becomes wise in a happy fashion. (Plautus)
15. Nòn omnes qui habent citharam sunt citharoedi.
Not all people who have a lyre are lyre players. (Varro)
16. Improbè Neptùnum accùsat qui iterum naufragium facit.
Who suffers a shipwreck a second time unjustly accuses Neptune. (Publius Syrus)
17. Vitia nostra regiònum mutatiòne nòn fugimus.
We do not flee our vices by changing our location. (Anon.)
18. Sè damnat iudex, innocentem qui opprimit.
The judge who punishes an innocent man condemns himself. (Publius Syrus)
19. Male sècum agit aeger, medicum qui herèdem facit.
The sick man who makes his doctor his heir does himself a disservice. (Publius Syrus)
20. Thésaurum in sepulchrò pònit, qui senem herèdem facit.
Who makes an old man his heir puts his treasure in the grave. (Publius Syrus)
21. Ubi peccat aetàs major, male discit minor.
When the older generation makes mistakes, the younger generation learns bad habits. (Publius Syrus)
22. Ubi iudicat qui accùsat, vīs, nòn lèx, valet.
Where the person who accuses is (also) the person who judges, violence, not law, prevails. (Publius Syrus)
23. Peric'la timidus etiam quae nòn sunt videt.
The timid person sees even dangers that do not exist. (Publius Syrus)
24. Ovem in fronte, vulpem in corde gerit.
He acts like a sheep in his face but like a fox in his heart. (Medieval)
25. Damnant quod nòn intellegunt.
They condemn what they do not understand. (Anon.)
26. Qui fugit molam, fugit farinam.
Who runs away from the millstone, runs away from the flour. (Anon.)
27. Stultus nil cèlat: quod habet sub corde revelat.
The stupid person conceals nothing: he reveals what he has in his heart. (Medieval)
28. Vespere pròmittunt multi quod mène recùsant.
Many promise in the evening what they refuse the next morning. (Medieval)
29. Occasiò aegrè offertur, facile àmittitur.
Opportunity is presented rarely, and is easily lost. (Publius Syrus)
30. Eget semper qui avarus est.
The person who is a miser is always in want. (St. Jerome, Hieronymus)
31. Quot capita, tot sententiae.
There are as many opinions as there are people. (Anon.)

December 2025 & MMXXV &

Perfect for the Holidays

How the Grinch
Stole Christmas
in Latin

Yes, Virginia, There is a Santa Claus ...
in Latin!

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
	I • KALENDAE	II • IV NON.	III • III NON. SACRA BONAE DEAE	IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE	VI • VIII IDVS
VII • VII IDVS	VIII • VI IDVS Q HORATIUS FLACCUS POETA NATUS EST LXV AC	IX • V IDVS	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS	XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS
XIV • XIX KAL.	XV • XVIII KAL.	XVI • XVII KAL.	XVII • XVI KAL.	XVIII • XV KAL.	XIX • XIV KAL.	XX • XIII KAL.
	COSUALIA	SATURNALIA	SATURNALIA	SATURNALIA	SATURNALIA	SATURNALIA
XXI • XII KAL.	XXII • XI KAL.	XXIII • X KAL.	XXIV • IX KAL.	XXV • VIII KAL.	XXVI • VII KAL.	XXVII • VI KAL.
SATURNALIA	SATURNALIA	SATURNALIA
XXVIII • V KAL.	XXIX • IV KAL.	XXX • III KAL.	XXXI • PRIDIE KAL.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Nīl agit exemplum litem quod līte resolvit.
An example accomplishes nothing that solves one controversy by introducing another. (Horace)
2. Quam est fēlix vīta quae sine odiis trānsit!
How happy is a life that is spent without hatred! (Publius Syrus)
3. Nōn bene olet qui bene semper olet.
A person does not smell good who always smells good. (Martial)
4. Crēscit avāritia quantum crēscit tua gaza.
Greed increases as much as your money increases. (Medieval)
5. Omnia . . . habet qui nihil concupiscit.
Who desires nothing has everything. (Valerius Maximus)
6. Male agitur cum dominō quem vilicus docet.
It goes badly with a master whom the foreman instructs. (Anon.)
7. Quidquid fit cum virtūte, fit cum glōriā.
Whatever is done with courage is done with glory. (Publius Syrus)
8. Sub nive quod tegitur, dum nix perit, omne videtur.
Everything that is covered by snow appears when the snow disappears. (Medieval)
9. Nec temere nec timide.
Neither rashly nor timidly. (Family motto)
10. Nōn est vir fortis ac strēnuus qui labōrem fugit.
The person who runs away from hard work is not a brave and active man. (Seneca)
11. Felix, quem faciunt aliēna perīcula cautum.
Happy is the person whom other people's dangers make cautious. (Medieval)
12. Quem amat, amat; quem nōn amat, nōn amat.
Whom he likes, he likes; whom he does not like, he does not like. (Petronius)
13. Nōn omnis qui sapiēns dicitur sapiēns est, sed qui discit et retinet sapientiam.
Not everyone who is called wise is wise, but rather he who learns and retains wisdom. (Petronius)
14. Qui capitur, capitur.
Who captures is himself captured. (Anon.)
15. Nēmō malus qui nōn stultus.
There is no bad person who is not foolish. (Robert Burton)
16. Citō fit, quod dī volunt.
What the gods want comes to pass quickly. (Petronius)
17. Semper inops quicumque cupit.
Whoever desires is always poor. (Claudianus)
18. Dat virtūs quod forma negat.
Virtue gives what beauty denies. (Motto)
19. Nēmō mē impūne lacessit.
No one attacks me with impunity. (Motto of Black Watch)
20. Qui sua perpendit, mea crimina nōn reprehendit.
Who weighs his own faults does not condemn mine. (Medieval)
21. Ōs, oculus, vultus prōdunt quod cor gerit intus.
The mouth, the eyes, the expression betray what the heart has inside. (Medieval)
22. Quod in iuventute nōn discitur, in mātūrā aetate nescitur.
What is not learned in one's youth is not known at a mature age. (Cassiodorus)
23. Bonum quod est suppressitur, numquam exstinguitur.
What is good is suppressed, but never extinguished. (Publius Syrus)
24. Suum cuique pulchrum est.
One's own seems handsome to each person. (Cicero)
25. Mortuō leōni et leporēs insultant.
Even rabbits insult a dead lion. (Anon.)
26. Forti et fideli nihil difficile.
Nothing is difficult for the brave and faithful. (Motto)
27. Cui Fortuna favet multos amicos habet.
The person whom Fortune favors has many friends. (Anon.)
28. Homō hominī aut deus aut lupus.
For another human being, a human being is either a god or a wolf. (Erasmus)
29. Inopiae desunt multa; avaritiae omnia.
Many things are lacking to poverty; everything is lacking to greed. (Publius Syrus)
30. Taciturnitas stulto homini pro sapientia est.
For a stupid man silence is a substitute for wisdom. (Publius Syrus)
31. Formicae grāta est formica, cicāda cicādae.
An ant is pleasing to an ant, and a grasshopper to another grasshopper. (Translation of Theocritus)

Ianvarivs 2026 & MMXXVI &

NEW

A Splendid Tool for Self-Review

Online interactive exercises provide exceptional test
prep for AP® Latin.

AP® is a trademark registered and/or owned by the College Board, which was not involved in the production of, and does not endorse,
these products.

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
				I • KALENDAE	II • IV Non.	III • III Non.
IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE	VI • VIII Idvs	VII • VII Idvs	VIII • VI Idvs	IX • V Idvs	X • IV Idvs
XI • III Idvs	XII • PRIDIE Idvs	XIII • Idvs	XIV • XIX Kal.	XV • XVIII Kal.	XVI • XVII Kal.	XVII • XVI Kal.
AUGUSTUS IANUM CLAUSIT, XXIX AC		RES PUBLICA RESTITUTA EST AB AUGUSTO, XXVII AC			OCTAVIANUS AUGUSTUS NOMINATUS EST, XXVII AC
XVIII • XV Kal.	XIX • XIV Kal.	XX • XIII Kal.	XXI • XII Kal.	XXII • XI Kal.	XXIII • X Kal.	XXIV • IX Kal.
XXV • VIII Kal.	XXVI • VII Kal.	XXVII • VI Kal.	XXVIII • V Kal.	XXIX • IV Kal.	XXX • III Kal.	XXXI • PRIDIE Kal.
						ARA PACIS DEDICATA EST, I AC

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Rēx est quī metuit nihil, rēx est quique cupit nihil; hoc rēgnum sibi quisque dat.
A king is a person who fears nothing, a king is a person who desires nothing; this kingdom each person gives himself. (Seneca)
2. Nil hominī certum est.
Nothing is sure for mankind. (Ovid)
3. Neque enim omnia Deus hominī facit.
For God does not do everything for mankind. (Seneca)
4. Nūlla fidēs inopī.
No faith is put in a person who does not have money. (Ausonius)
5. Nihil difficile amanti.
Nothing is difficult for the lover. (Cicero)
6. Nihil . . . semper florēt: aetās succēdit aetāti.
Nothing flourishes forever: one generation succeeds another generation. (Cicero)
7. Stat sua cuique diēs.
One's own day of death is set for each person. (Vergil)
8. Irā perit subitō quam gignit amicus amicō.
Anger that one friend generates for another friend dies down quickly. (Medieval)
9. Etiam instantī laesa repūgnat ovis.
Even a sheep, if it is injured, fights back against someone who threatens it. (Propertius)
10. Vulgōque vērītās jam attribūta vinō est.
And now truth is commonly attributed to wine. (Pliny the Younger)
11. Summa sēdēs nōn capit duōs.
The highest position does not hold two people. (Anon.)
12. Necessitatī quī sē accommodat sapit.
The person who accommodates himself to necessity is wise. (Anon.)
13. Omne solum fortī patria est.
Every country is a native land for one who is brave. (Ovid)
14. Meus mihi, suus cuique est cārus.
Who is mine is dear to me, who is someone else's is dear to him. (Plautus)

15. Aliud vinum, aliud ēbrietās.
Wine is one thing, drunkenness is something else. (Anon.)
16. Qui parcē sēminat, parcē et metit.
Who sows sparingly also reaps sparingly. (St. Paul)
17. Nūllus agentī diēs longus est.
No day is long for the person who is active. (Seneca)
18. Mors omnibus instat.
Death threatens all. (Common grave inscription)
19. Cinerī glōria sēra venit.
Glory comes late to the ashes. (Martial)
20. Nūlli est hominī perpetuum bonum.
There is eternal prosperity for no man. (Plautus)
21. Dictum sapienti sat est.
A word to the wise is enough. (Plautus)
22. Quot hominēs, tot sententiae; suus cuique mōs.
There are as many opinions as there are men; each one his own way of doing things. (Terence)
23. Serō dat qui roganti dat.
He gives late who gives to one who asks. (Anon.)
24. Mendāci, neque cum vēra dicit, crēditur.
Belief is not given to a liar even when he tells the truth. (Cicero)
25. Cui dēest pecūnia, huic dēsunt omnia.
To whom money is lacking, to him all things are lacking. (Anon.)
26. Nūdum latrō trāsmittit; etiam in obsessā viā pauperī pāx est.
The robber passes by the poor man; even in a road that is besieged there is peace for the poor man. (Seneca)
27. Cuivis dolorī remedium est patientia.
Patience is a remedy for any grief you wish. (Pubilius Syrus)
28. Alienū aes hominī ingenuō est servitūs.
For a freeborn man, debt is a form of slavery. (Pubilius Syrus)

Febrvarivs 2026 ↻ M̅M̅XXVI ↻

NEW AP® Latin Prep

AP® is a trademark registered and/or owned by the College Board, which was not involved in the production of, and does not endorse, these products.

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
I • KALENDAE	II • IV NON.	III • III NON.	IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE AUGUSTUS PATER PATRIAE NOMINATUS EST, II AC	VI • VIII IDVS	VII • VII IDVS
VIII • VI IDVS	IX • V IDVS	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS	XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS	XIV • XVI KAL.
XV • XV KAL.	XVI • XIV KAL.	XVII • XIII KAL.	XVIII • XII KAL.	XIX • XI KAL.	XX • X KAL.	XXI • XI KAL.
LUPERCALIA		QUIRINALIA				FERALIA
XXII • VIII KAL.	XXIII • VII KAL.	XXIV • VI KAL.	XXV • V KAL.	XXVI • IV KAL.	XXVII • III KAL.	XXVIII • PRIDIE KAL.
	TERMINALIA	REGIFUGIUM		.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Et latrō et cautus praecingitur ense viātor, ille sed insidiās, hic sibi portat opem.
Both the highwayman and the cautious traveller are equipped with a sword, but the former is carrying it as an ambush and the latter is carrying it to assist himself. (Ovid)
2. Sui cuique mōrēs fingunt fortunam.
A person's own way of life creates his fortune for him. (Cornelius Nepos)
3. Frēnōs impōnit linguae cōscientia.
Conscience places reins upon our tongue. (Publius Syrus)
4. Nōn mihi sapit quī sermōne sed quī factis sapit.
As far as I am concerned, the person is not wise who is wise in his speech but the person who is wise in his deeds. (Robert Burton)
5. Invidius omnis abest, si prosperitās tibi nōn est.
Every envious person is absent, if you do not have prosperity. (Anon.)
6. Saepe subit poenās, ōrī quī nōn dat habēnās.
The person who does not put reins upon his mouth often suffers a penalty. (Medieval)
7. Quod nimis miseri volunt, hoc facile crēdunt.
What unhappy people want too much, this they easily believe. (Seneca)
8. Nīl agentī diēs longus est.
To one who does nothing the day is long. (Seneca?)
9. Sōlitudo placet Mūsīs, urbs est inimica poētīs.
Solitude pleases the Muses, the city is unfriendly for poets. (Petarch)
10. Sōl omnibus lūcet.
The sun shines upon us all. (Petronius)
11. Deus omnia nōn dat omnibus.
God does not give everything to everybody. (Medieval)
12. Suus rēx rēginae placet.
Her own king pleases a queen. (Plautus)
13. Flamma fūmō est proxima.
Smoke is next to the fire. (Plautus)
14. Commūne naufragium omnibus est cōsōlatiō.
A common shipwreck is a consolation for everybody. (Anon.)
15. Pūris omnia pūra.
To the pure all things are pure. (New Testament)

16. Alia aliis placent.
Different things please different people. (Anon.)
17. Est pueris cārus quī nōn est doctor amārus.
He who is not an unpleasant teacher is dear to children. (Medieval)
18. Fortibus est fortuna viris data.
Fortune is given to brave men. (Ennius)
19. Nihil amantibus dūrum est.
Nothing is difficult for lovers. (St. Jerome)
20. Maximō peric'lo custoditur quod multis placet.
That which is pleasing to many people is guarded with the greatest danger. (Publius Syrus)
21. Vis legibus inimica.
Violence is hostile to the laws. (Legal)
22. Vicina sunt vitia virtutibus.
Vices are close to virtues. (St. Jerome)
23. Deus superbis resistit, humilibus autem dat grātiā.
God resists the proud, but grants grace to the humble. (New Testament)
24. Immodicus brevis est aetas et rāra senectūs.
For those who are extraordinary, youth is short and old age uncommon. (Martial)
25. Nōn nobis solum.
Not for ourselves alone. (Motto)
26. Iustitia omnibus.
Justice for all. (Motto of District of Columbia)
27. Fortuna favet fatuis.
Fortune favors the stupid. (Anon.)
28. Deo, patriae, amicis.
For God, for country, for friends. (Motto)
29. Aliud aliis videtur optimum.
Different things seem best to different people. (Cicero)
30. Illa placet tellus in qua res parva beatum me facit.
That land pleases me in which a small piece of property makes me happy (or prosperous). (Martial)
31. Quod cibus est aliis, aliis est acre venenum.
What is food for some people is bitter poison for others. (Anon.)

Martivs 2026 & MMXXVI &

Designed for Today's Student

Latin for the New Millennium Levels
1 and 2, Second
Edition

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
I • KALENDAE	II • VI NON.	III • V NON.	IV • IV NON. AUGUSTUS PONTIFEX MAXIMUS NOMINATUS EST, XII AC	V • III NON.	VI • PRIDIE NON.	VII • NONAE
VIII • VIII IDVS	IX • VII IDVS	X • VI IDVS	XI • V IDVS	XII • IV IDVS	XIII • III IDVS	XIV • PRIDIE IDVS
XV • IDVS C. JULIUS CAESAR INTERFECTUS EST, XLIV AC	XVI • XVII KAL.	XVII • XVI KAL.	XVIII • XV KAL.	XIX • XIV KAL.	XX • XIII KAL.	XXI • XII KAL.
XXII • XI KAL.	XXIII • X KAL.	XXIV • IX KAL.	XXV • VIII KAL.	XXVI • VII KAL.	XXVII • VI KAL.	XXVIII • V KAL.
XXIX • IV KAL. TUBILUSTRIUM	XXX • III KAL.	XXXI • PRIDIE KAL.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Qui culpaē ignōscit unī, suadet plūribus.
Who forgives one fault, persuades more people to make similar errors. (Publius Syrus)
2. Ingrāta sunt beneficia, quibus comes est metus.
Benefits are not welcome that are accompanied by fear. (Publius Syrus)
3. Omnis enim rēs, virtūs, fama, decus, divīna hūmānaque pulchrīs divitiīs pārent.
For all things, virtue, fame, honor, things divine and human, are obedient to beautiful riches. (Horace)
4. Quisquis in vitā suā parentēs colit, hic et vivus et defūctus deīs est cārus.
Whoever during his lifetime takes care of his parents, this person both living and dead is dear to the gods. (Translation of Johannes Stobaeus)
5. Nē Jupiter quidem omnibus placet.
Not even Jupiter is pleasing to everyone. (Translation of Theognis)
6. Quod suāve est aliis, aliis est amārum.
What is pleasant for some is bitter for others. (Anon.)
7. Post naufragium maria temptantur.
The seas are tried after a shipwreck. (Anon.)
8. Longē fugit quisquis suōs fugit.
Whoever flees from his family flees a long way. (Petronius Arbiter)
9. Imperat aut servit collecta pecūnia cuique.
Money that has been piled up either commands or obeys each person. (Horace)
10. In tālī tālēs capiuntur flūmine piscēs.
In this kind of river these kinds of fish are caught. (Medieval)
11. Qualis pater, tālis filius.
As the father is, so is the son. (Anon.)
12. Aequore quot piscēs, fronde teguntur avēs, quot caelum stellas, tot habet tua Rōma puellās.
As many fish as there are in the sea, as many birds as are covered by foliage, as many stars as the sky holds, so many girls does your Rome hold. (Ovid)
13. Flūmen cōfūsum reddit piscantibus ūsum.
The river that has been stirred up furnishes opportunity to fishermen. (Medieval)
14. Equi donātī dentēs nōn inspicuntur.
People do not look at the teeth of a horse that is given to them. (St. Jerome)
15. Mēns et animus et cōsiliū et sententia cīvitatīs posita est in lēgibus.
The mind and character and planning and feeling of the state lie in its laws. (Cicero)

16. Sic transit glōria mundi.
Thus passes the glory of the world. (Anon.)
17. Sine doctrinā vitā est quasi mortis imāgō.
A life without learning is like an image of death. (Dionysius Cato)
18. Silentium est signum sapientiae et loquacitās est signum stultitiae.
Silence is a sign of wisdom and talkativeness is a sign of stupidity. (Petrus Alphonsus)
19. Ignorantia lēgis nēmīnem excusat.
Ignorance of the law excuses no one. (Legal)
20. In casū extrēmāe necessitatīs omnia sunt commūnia.
In case of extreme necessity all things are in common. (Legal)
21. Initium sapientiae timor Domini.
Fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. (Job, Old Testament)
22. Quid est somnus gelidae nisi mortis imāgō?
What is sleep except the image of chilly death? (Ovid)
23. Ex vitiis alterius sapiēns emendat suum.
From the faults of someone else the wise man corrects his own fault. (Publius Syrus)
24. Dux vitae ratio.
Reason is the leader of life. (Latin equivalent of the motto of Phi Beta Kappa)
25. In nōmine Domini incipit omne malum.
Every evil begins in the name of the Lord. (Anon.)
26. Rēgis amicitia nōn est possessiō pura.
The friendship of the king is not an ideal possession. (Medieval)
27. Ōtium sine litteris mors est et hominis vivī sepultura.
Leisure without learning is death and the burial of a living man. (Seneca)
28. Vox populi vox Dei.
The voice of the people is the voice of God. (Commonplace)
29. Rōma caput mundi.
Rome is the capital of the world. (Lucan)
30. Īra initium insāniae.
Anger is the beginning of insanity. (Ennius)

Aprilis 2026 & MMXXVI &

A Comprehensive
Grounding in Latin
Literature

Latin for the
New Millennium
Level 3

LNM 3 transitions
students from any beginning series to
Roman authors.
A perfect foundation and preparation for
AP® Latin!

AP® is a trademark registered and/or owned by the College Board, which was not involved in the production of, and does not endorse, these products.

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
			I • KALENDAE	II • IV NON.	III • III NON.	IV • PRIDIE NON.
V • NONAE	VI • VIII IDVS	VII • VII IDVS	VIII • VI IDVS	IX • V IDVS MAGNAE MATRI	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS
XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS	XIV • XVIII KAL.	XV • XVII KAL.	XVI • XVI KAL. AUGUSTUS IMPERATOR NOMINATUS EST, XXIX AC	XVII • XV KAL.	XVIII • XIV KAL.
XIX • XIII KAL.	XX • XII KAL. PARILIA	XXI • XI KAL. ROMA CONDITA EST 753 AC	XXII • X KAL.	XXIII • IX KAL.	XXIV • VIII KAL.	XXV • VII KAL.
XXVI • VI KAL.	XXVII • V KAL.	XXVIII • IV KAL.	XXIX • III KAL.	XXX • PRIDIE KAL. LUDI FLORAE

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Mūsica est mentis medicīna maestae.
Music is medicine for a sad mind. (Anon.)
2. Externus hostis maximum in urbe concordiae vinculum.
An enemy outside the city is the greatest bond of concord inside the city. (Anon.)
3. Tam dēest avārō quod habet quam quod nōn habet.
A miser lacks as much what he has as what he does not have. (Publius Syrus)
4. Fortūnātō omne solum patria est.
For one who is happy, every country is a native land. (Anon.)
5. Qui genus jactat suum, aliēna laudat.
Who praises his own family, praises what belongs to others. (Seneca)
6. Sapiēns qui prōspicit.
Wise is he who looks ahead. (Motto of Malvern College)
7. Bonae mentis soror est paupertās.
Poverty is the sister of an honest mind. (Petronius)
8. Bonus animus in malā rē dimidium est mali.
In an evil situation a good frame of mind is half of the evil. (Plautus)
9. Magna vis cōscientiae.
The force of conscience is great. (Cicero)
10. Salus populi suprema lex.
The safety of the people is the supreme law. (Legal)
11. Virtūtis amōre.
With love of virtue. (Motto)
12. Calamitās virtūtis occasiō est.
Disaster is the opportunity for bravery. (Seneca)
13. Pro libertate patriae.
For the freedom of my country. (Motto)
14. Felix qui nihil debet.
Happy is he who owes nothing. (Anon.)
15. Index est animi sermō.
Talk is an indicator of the mind. (Medieval)
16. Omnis ars naturae imitatio est.
All art is an imitation of nature. (Seneca)
17. Crēscit amor nummī quantum ipsa pecūnia crēscit.
Love of money increases as much as money itself increases. (Juvenal)
18. Metus enim mortis mūsicā dēpellitur.
For the fear of death is dispelled by music. (Censorinus)
19. Contrā malum mortis nōn est medicāmentum in hortis.
Against the evil of death there is no medicine in the gardens. (Medieval)
20. Vinum animi speculum.
Wine is the mirror of the mind. (Anon.)
21. Ūsus, magnus vitae magister, multa docet.
Experience, the great teacher of life, teaches us much. (Cicero)
22. Caput columbae, cauda scorpionis.
The head of a dove, the tail of a scorpion. (St. Bernard?)
23. Homo sine pecūniā mortis imāgō.
A man without money is an image of death. (Anon.)
24. Sermō datur cūctis, animi sapientia paucis.
Speech is given to all, wisdom of mind to few. (Anon.)
25. In nūllum avārus bonus, sed in sē semper pessimus.
The miser is good toward no one, but toward himself he is always worst of all. (Terentius Varro)
26. Causa paupertatis plerisque probitas est.
For a good many people, the cause of their poverty is honesty. (Q. Curtius Rufus)
27. Satis eloquentiae, sapientiae parum.
Enough eloquence, little wisdom. (Sallust)
28. Nullius hospitis grāta est mora longa.
A long stay of no guest is pleasant. (Anon.)
29. Qui debet, limen creditōris nōn amat.
The person who owes does not like the threshold of the person he owes money to. (Publius Syrus)
30. Praemia virtutis honorēs.
Honors are the rewards for virtue. (School motto)
31. Tempora praetereunt mōre fluentis aquae.
Times pass in the manner of running water. (Medieval)

Maius 2026 ↻ MMXXVI ↻

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
					I • KALENDAE	II • VI NON.
					LUDI FLORAE	LUDI FLORAE
III • V NON.	IV • IV NON.	V • III NON.	VI • PRIDIE NON.	VII • NONAE	VIII • VIII IDVS	IX • VII IDVS
X • VI IDVS	XI • V IDVS	XII • IV IDVS	XIII • III IDVS	XIV • PRIDIE IDVS	XV • IDVS	XVI • XVII KAL.
XVII • XVI KAL.	XVIII • XV KAL.	XIX • XIV KAL.	XX • XIII KAL.	XXI • XII KAL.	XXII • XI KAL.	XXIII • X KAL.
XXIV • IX KAL. _____ XXXI • PRIDIE KAL.	XXVI • VII KAL.	XXVI • VII KAL.	XXVII • VI KAL.	XXVIII • V KAL.	XXIX • IV KAL.	XXX • III KAL.

Lumina for LNM offers online interactive
activities for students.
Visit our website for demos and information.

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Amicus animae dimidium.
A friend is the half of one's soul. (Augustine)
2. Tot mundi superstitionēs quot caelō stellae.
There are as many superstitions in the world as there are stars in the sky. (Robert Burton)
3. Pietās fundāmentum est omnium virtūtum.
Piety is the foundation of all the virtues. (Cicero)
4. Injuriarum remedium est obliuio.
The cure for injuries is forgetting about them. (Pubilius Syrus)
5. Amicus omnium, amicus nullōrum.
A friend of all is a friend of nobody. (Anon.)
6. Terrarum dea gentiumque, Rōma, cui pār est nihil et nihil secundum.
Rome, goddess of earth and of people, to whom nothing is equal and nothing is second. (Martial)
7. Perjūria ridet amantum Juppiter.
Jupiter laughs at the lies of lovers. (Lydamus)
8. Repetitio est māter studiōrum.
Repetition is the mother of studies. (Anon.)
9. Distrahit animum librōrum multitudo.
A great number of books distracts the mind. (Seneca)
10. Bis dat qui citō dat.
Who gives quickly gives twice. (Alciatus?)
11. Stultorum plēna sunt omnia.
Everything is full of foolish people. (Cicero)
12. Domina omnium et rēgina ratiō.
Reason is the mistress and queen of all. (Cicero)
13. Difficile est modum tenēre in omnibus.
It is difficult to keep moderation in everything. (St. Jerome)
14. Sōlem . . . ē mundō tollere videntur qui amicitiam ē vitā tollunt.
Those who remove friendship from life seem to take the sun from the world. (Cicero)
15. Septem hōrās dormire satis iuueni que senique.
Seven hours sleep is enough for young and old. (Medieval)
16. Dulcis amor patriae, dulce vidēre suōs.
Sweet is love of country, sweet it is to see one's own family. (Anon.)
17. Nōn quia difficilia sunt, nōn audēmus; sed quia nōn audēmus, difficilia sunt.
Not because things are difficult are we not bold; but because we are not bold, things are difficult. (Seneca)
18. Errāre est hūmānum.
To err is human. (Anon.)
19. Anguillam caudā tenēs.
You are holding an eel by the tail. (Anon.)
20. Ars est cēlāre artem.
It is the function of art to conceal art. (Anon.)
21. Omnia scire volunt omnēs, sed discere nōlunt.
Everybody wants to know everything, but they do not want to learn. (Medieval)
22. Nec male olēre mihi nec bene olēre placet.
Neither smelling bad nor smelling good is pleasing to me. (Ausonius)
23. Amāre et sapere vix deō concēditur.
To be in love and keep one's senses is a thing which is hardly given to a god. (Pubilius Syrus)
24. Dulce est dēspere in locō.
It is pleasant to play the fool at the proper time and place. (Horace)
25. Nescit nātūram mutāre pecūnia puram.
Money does not know how to change an incorrupt nature. (Medieval)
26. Testis nēmō in suā causā esse debet.
No one ought to be a witness in his own case. (Legal)
27. Stultum facit Fortūna quem vult perdere.
Whom Fortune wishes to destroy she makes foolish. (Pubilius Syrus)
28. Qui timidē rogat docet negāre.
Who asks in a timid fashion is teaching the person he asks to refuse. (Seneca)
29. Linguae compescere virtūs nōn est minīma.
To hold one's tongue is a very great virtue. (Anon.)
30. Amāre simul et sapere ipsi Jovi nōn datur.
The ability to love and be wise at the same time is not given to Jupiter himself. (Anon.)

Ivniivs 2026 - MMXXVI

Lumina: Artes
Latinae is an online self-teaching Latin course structured to accommodate multiple levels of students, each learning at their own pace in a classroom or homeschool setting. Visit our website for demos and information.

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
	I • KALENDAE	II • IV NON.	III • III NON.	IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE	VI • VIII IDVS
VII • VII IDVS	VIII • VI IDVS	IX • V IDVS	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS	XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS
VESTALIA	VESTALIA	VESTALIA	VESTALIA	VESTALIA	VESTALIA	VESTALIA
XIV • XVIII KAL.	XV • XVII KAL.	XVI • XVI KAL.	XVII • XV KAL.	XVIII • XIV KAL.	XIX • XIII KAL.	XX • XII KAL.
VESTALIA	VESTALIA
XXI • XI KAL.	XXII • X KAL.	XXIII • IX KAL.	XXIV • VIII KAL.	XXV • VII KAL.	XXVI • VI KAL.	XXVII • V KAL.
XXVIII • IV KAL.	XXIX • III KAL.	XXX • PRIDIE KAL.

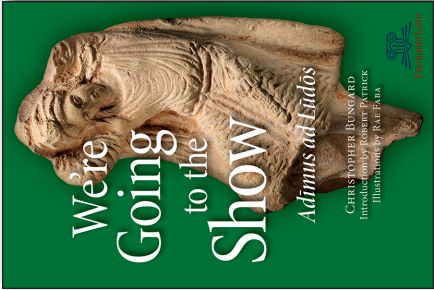

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Fēlix quī quod amat dēfendere fortiter audet.
Happy is he who dares to defend bravely that which he loves. (Medieval)
2. Ut ager quamvis fertilis sine culturā fructuosus esse nōn potest, sic sine doctrinā animus.
Just as a field, however fertile, cannot be fruitful without cultivation, so the mind cannot be productive without education. (Cicero)
3. In malis spērare bene, nisi innocēns, nēmō solet.
No one, except an innocent person, is accustomed to being optimistic in difficult circumstances. (Pubilius Syrus)
4. Orā et labōrā.
Work and pray. (Motto of Benedictine order)
5. Diligere parentēs prima naturae lēx.
The first law of nature is to love one's parents. (Valerius Maximus)
6. Difficile est trīstī fingere mente jocum.
It is hard to make a joke with a sad heart. (Lygdamus)
7. Iūsta . . . ab iniūstis petere insipientia est.
It is foolishness to seek justice from the unjust. (Plautus)
8. Si Deus prō nobis, quis contrā nōs?
If God is for us, who is against us? (New Testament)
9. Male facere qui vult numquam nōn causam invenit.
A person who wants to do evil always finds reason. (Pubilius Syrus)
10. Nec scire fas est omnia.
It is not permitted to know everything. (Horace)
11. Improbis est homō quī beneficium scit accipere et reddere nescit.
The man is wicked who knows how to receive a benefit and does not know how to give one. (Plautus)
12. Grātus animus est ūna virtūs, nōn solum maxima sed etiam māter virtūtum omnium reliquarum.
A grateful disposition is a unique virtue, not only the greatest one but even the mother of all other virtues. (Cicero)
13. Sine pennīs volāre haud facile est.
It is hard to fly without wings. (Anon.)
14. Hūmānum amāre est, hūmānum autem ignōscere est.
It is human to love, it is human to forgive. (Plautus)
15. Scire volunt omnēs; mercēdem solvere nēmō.
All wish to know; no one wishes to pay the price. (Juvenal)
16. Qui tacet cōsensire vidētur.
Who is silent appears to give consent. (Legal)
17. Iuris praecepta sunt: honestē vivere, alterum non laedere, suum cuique tribuere.
These are the principles of law: to lead a decent life, not to harm another, to give to each his own. (Justinianus)
18. Nam et uxorem dūcere et nōn dūcere malum est.
For it is a bad thing to marry and a bad thing not to marry. (Valerius Maximus)
19. Rēx nōn debet esse sub homine sed sub Deō et lēge, quia lēx facit rēgem.
The king ought not to be under the influence of men but under the influence of God and the law, because the law makes the king. (Bracton?)
20. Fraus est celāre fraudem.
It is dishonest to conceal dishonesty. (Anon.)
21. Periculōsum est crēdere et nōn crēdere.
It is dangerous both to believe and not to believe. (Phaedrus)
22. Est quaedam flēre voluptās.
To weep is a certain pleasure. (Ovid)
23. Ebrietas mōrēs aufert tibi, rēs et honōrēs.
Drunkenness takes away your character, your things, and your reputation. (Medieval)
24. Nōn sentire mala sua nōn est hominis, et nōn ferre, nōn est viri.
Not to feel one's misfortunes is not human, and not to endure them is not manly. (Seneca)
25. Qui vult caedere canem, facile invenit fūstem.
Who wants to beat a dog, easily finds a stick. (Anon.)
26. Scire lēgēs nōn est verba eārum tenēre sed vim ac potestatem.
Knowing the laws is not remembering their words, but rather their force and power. (Anon.)
27. Legere et nōn intellegere est tamquam nōn legere.
To read and not understand is just like not reading. (Anon.)
28. Judicis est iūs dicere, nōn dare.
It is the duty of the judge to explain the law, not to make it. (Legal)
29. Stultitiam simulāre locō prūdētia summa est.
To pretend stupidity at the right time is the highest sort of prudence. (Anon.)
30. Cum . . . docēmus, discimus.
When we teach, we learn. (Sergius)
31. Vincis cochleam tarditudine.
You surpass the snail in slowness. (Plautus)

Ivlivs 2026 & MMXXVI &

Immersive
Introductions
to the Ancient World—
Entirely in Latin!

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
			I • KALENDAE	II • VI NON.	III • V NON.	IV • IV NON. ARA PACIS AUGUSTAE DECRETA EST XIII AC
V • III NON.	VI • PRIDIE NON.	VII • NONAE	VIII • VIII IDVS	IX • VII IDVS	X • VI IDVS	XI • V IDVS
LUDI APOLLINARES
XII • IV IDVS	XIII • III IDVS	XIV • PRIDIE IDVS	XV • IDVS	XVI • XVII KAL.	XVII • XVI KAL.	XVIII • XV KAL.
C. JULIUS CAESAR NATUS EST, C AC
XIX • XIV KAL.	XX • XIII KAL.	XXI • XII KAL.	XXII • XI KAL.	XXIII • X KAL.	XXIV • IX KAL.	XXV • VIII KAL.
XXVI • VII KAL.	XXVII • VI KAL.	XXVIII • V KAL.	XXIX • IV KAL.	XXX • III KAL.	XXXI • PRIDIE KAL.
		NEPTUNALIA

Sententia Latina ad Diem

1. Laudem virtutis necessitati damus.
We give praise of virtue to necessity. (Fabius Quintilianus)
2. Ex ore tuō tē iudicō.
I judge you from your own mouth. (Anon.)
3. Nec habeo nec careo nec curo.
I neither have, nor want, nor care. (Motto)
4. Insanus mediō flumine quaeris aquam.
You are insanely looking for water in the middle of the river. (Propertius)
5. Dum spirō, spero.
While I breathe, I hope. (Motto)
6. Facile omnis, cum valēmus, recta cōsilia aegrotātis damus.
We all, while we are well, easily give good advice to the sick. (Terence)
7. Rem actam agis.
You are doing something that has been done before. (Plautus)
8. Elephantum ex mure facis.
You are making an elephant out of a mouse. (Anon.)
9. Dum fata fugimus, fata stulti incurrimus.
While we flee fate, we foolishly run into the same fate we are trying to avoid. (Buchanan?)
10. Aliena nobis, nostra plus aliis placent.
Other people's things please us, and our things please other people more. (Publius Syrus)
11. Divitiae sunt causa malorum.
Riches are the cause of evil. (Anon.)
12. Socrates "Quam multa non desidero!" inquit.
Socrates said, "How many things I do not want!" (Anon.)
13. Scribimus indocti doctique.
We all write, learned and unlearned. (Robert Burton)
14. Audio sed taceo.
I hear but I keep silent. (Motto)
15. Cum infirmi sumus optimi sumus.
When we are sick, then we are the best. (Pliny the Elder)
16. Cum ventis litigo.
I am fighting with the winds. (Petronius)
17. Homō sum; hūmāni nil ā mē alienum putō.
I am a human being; I consider nothing human alien to me. (Terence)

18. Ibi potest valere populus ubi leges valent.
Where the laws are strong, there the people can be strong. (Publius Syrus)
19. Divitiae meae sunt; tū divitiarum es.
My riches are mine; you belong to your riches. (Seneca)
20. In eadem es navi.
You are in the same boat (as I am). (Anon.)
21. Stultum est timere quod vitare non potes.
It is foolish to fear what you cannot avoid. (Publius Syrus)
22. Nam, sive Graeco poetae credimus, aliquando et insanire iucundum est.
If we believe the Greek poet, sometimes it is pleasant even to take leave of our senses. (Seneca)
23. Facile consilium damus aliis.
We easily give advice to other people. (Robert Burton)
24. Deo servire vera libertas.
Serving God is true liberty. (Medieval)
25. Aliquis non debet esse iudex in propria causa, quia non potest esse iudex et pars.
No one ought to be judge in his own case, because one cannot be both judge and participant. (Legal)
26. Humilis nec alte cadere nec graviter potest.
The lowly person cannot fall far nor heavily. (Publius Syrus)
27. Imperare sibi maximum imperium est.
To be in control of one's self is the greatest control. (Seneca)
28. Nemo omnia potest scire.
No one can know everything. (Terence)
29. Beneficium accipere libertatem est vendere.
To accept a benefit is to sell one's liberty. (Publius Syrus)
30. Fortis cadere, cedere non potest.
The brave person can fall but he cannot yield. (Family motto)
31. Supplicem hominem opprimere, virtus non est sed crudelitas.
To punish a man who is asking for mercy is not courage but cruelty. (Publius Syrus)

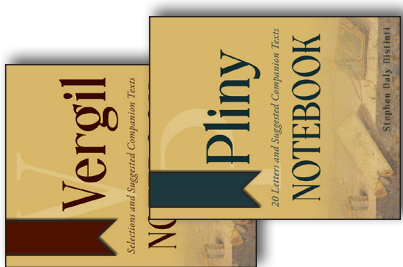

L NEST point estrange que le feu tombant du ciel bruste les lieux qu'il atteinēt mais il est monstreux de se voir yssir de la terre, sans scavoir dou il prent sa nourriture, ori=

Augvstvs 2026 & MMXXVI &

New
AP® Latin Support

Student
Notebooks for
Pliny and Vergil

AP® is a trademark registered and/or owned by the College Board, which was not involved in the production of, and does not endorse, these products.

SOLIS	LVNAE	MARTIS	MERCVRII	IOVIS	VENERIS	SATVRNI
						I • KALENDAE
II • IV NON.	III • III NON.	IV • PRIDIE NON.	V • NONAE	VI • VIII IDVS	VII • VII IDVS	VIII • VI IDVS
IX • V IDVS	X • IV IDVS	XI • III IDVS	XII • PRIDIE IDVS	XIII • IDVS	XIV • XIX KAL.	XV • XVIII KAL.
PROELIUM PHARSALI XLVIII AC
XVI • XVII KAL.	XVII • XVI KAL.	XVIII • XV KAL.	XIX • XIV KAL.	XX • XIII KAL.	XXI • XII KAL.	XXII • XI KAL.
XXIII • X KAL.	XXIV • IX KAL.	XXV • VIII KAL.	XXVI • VII KAL.	XXVII • VI KAL.	XXVIII • V KAL.	XXIX • IV KAL.
XXX • III KAL.	XXXI • PRIDIE KAL.					AUGUSTUS IMPERATOR MORTUUS EST, AD XIV

LATIN FOR THE NEW MILLENNIUM

Designed for Today's Student

Using Latin for the New Millennium, students develop a sound Latin grammar, syntax, and literature-based vocabulary foundation while exploring the full legacy of the Latin language and Roman culture into the Renaissance and the modern age.

Teachers and students love LNM and praise the second edition, with its additional exercises that provide drill reinforcement and laddering as well as the enhanced emphasis on English derivatives.

Level 1, Second Edition

Level 1 introduces students to ancient Rome, with adapted Latin readings beginning with Plautus and Terence and leading to Augustine and Boethius. The chronological approach provides students the literary and historical context for major Roman authors like Caesar, Catullus, Cicero, Horace, Ovid, Pliny, and Vergil.

Level 2, Second Edition

Level 2 allows students to engage with the great ideas of Western thought. Students traverse Europe and the New World reading Latin authors of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance—from Bede and Britain to Sepúlveda and Columbus to Copernicus and heliocentrism. Unadapted readings from Nepos's Life of Atticus keep students connected to Latin's Golden Age and the turbulent first century BCE.

Level 3

Level 3 builds on the strong foundation of Levels 1 and 2 and provides students an in-depth experience of Caesar, Catullus, Cicero, Horace, Ovid, and Vergil as well as Erasmus and his circle of intellectuals. This text with its grammar review lessons is designed for use after any introductory Latin textbook program. LNM 3 provides students a comprehensive foundation in literary analysis building on figures of speech.

Levels 1 and 2 by Milena Minkova and Terence Tunberg

Level 3 by Helena Dettmer and LeaAnn A. Osburn

History and Mythology enrichment texts by Rose Williams:

LNM 1—From Romulus to Romulus Augustulus and The Original Dysfunctional Family; LNM 2—From Rome to Reformation and The Clay-footed SuperHeroes

Visit www.LNM.BOLCHAZY.com for more information on the series and its support materials for instructors and students.

Lumina for Latin for the New Millennium was developed by Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers based on the material and exercises in the Latin for the New Millennium Level 1 and Latin for the New Millennium Level 2 textbooks. Guided Language Fact sections provide immediate feedback to facilitate students' preview or review of a chapter. Mouse-over vocabulary lists allow a new format for vocabulary mastery. Interactive crossword puzzles engage students in derivative work. Automatically graded quizzes free up student-teacher time for translation, oral/aural work, discussion, and other learning.

Visit www.BOLCHAZY.COM for additional information, overview videos, and upcoming webinars featuring Lumina: Latin for the New Millennium.

Lumina: Latin for the New Millennium for classroom users is a one-year subscription. The subscription runs July 15 of the purchase year through July 15 of the next year. Lumina: Latin for the New Millennium classroom is available to use with a Learning Management System (LMS) that supports LTI. If you do not use an LMS or your LMS does not support LTI, Lumina: Latin for the New Millennium is available for individual users. Visit our website for more information.

Lumina: Artes Latinae is an online self-teaching Latin course structured to accommodate multiple levels of students, each learning at his or her own pace in a classroom setting, during independent study, or in a homeschool setting.

Visit www.BOLCHAZY.COM for additional information, overview videos, and upcoming webinars featuring Lumina: Artes Latinae.

Lumina: Artes Latinae is an easy-to-follow course that includes all the tools a student needs to achieve a firm command of Latin. The course was carefully crafted and refined to suit the needs and abilities of a broad spectrum of students. Lumina: Artes Latinae meets existing foreign language requirements for high school graduation.

Lumina: Artes Latinae is hosted on Canvas. This online course format designed by Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers, Inc. is developed from Dr. Waldo Sweet's original version of Artes Latinae. The Lumina: Artes Latinae online course uses the same programmed method of teaching Latin with an interactive methodology.

The online course features three different pronunciations. At the click of an icon, students can choose the American Scholastic classical pronunciation by Dr. Waldo Sweet; the Restored Classical pronunciation of Dr. Robert Sonkowsky and Dr. Barbara Sonkowsky; or the Continental/Ecclesiastical pronunciation of Dr. Clarence Miller and Dr. Nancy Llewellyn.

A Splendid Tool for AP® Exam Review

Lumina: Pliny and Vergil

Lumina: Pliny and Vergil online exercises prepare students for the challenges of the AP® Latin Exam. Hundreds of multiple choice question cover ALL syllabus selections from Vergil's Aeneid and the letters of Pliny the Younger. These automatically-graded activities model exam format and provide students with detailed immediate feedback.

Additional multiple choice question sets promote close reading of suggested companion texts. These teacher's choice readings are included alongside expert commentary in Pliny: 20 Letters and Suggested Companion Texts and Vergil: Selections and Suggested Companion Texts. With Lumina, students receive invaluable support as they read widely from a variety of unadapted Latin texts.

Visit www.BOLCHAZY.com for additional information, overview videos, and upcoming webinars featuring Lumina: Pliny and Vergil. Contact lumina@bolchazy.com for more details.

AP® is a trademark registered and/or owned by the College Board, which was not involved in the production of, and does not endorse, these products.

Image Credits:

September: Engraved gem with Aeneas, Anchises, and Ascanius, first century CE (Digital image courtesy of the Getty's Open Content Program)

October: Eruption of Vesuvius in 1794, Saverio della Gatta (active 1777–1811) (Public Domain)

November: Turnus provoked into war by Aeneas, lacquerware tray, José Manuel de la Cerda (c. 1764) (Open Access/The Metropolitan Museum of Art)

December: Dish depicting the Sibyl of Cumae, late 1500s, circle of Bernard Palissy (Open Access/The Cleveland Museum of Art)

January: Metabus: King of the Volsci, Léon Cogniet (1794–1880) (© Creative Commons 2.0/Patrick)

February: Sardonyx cameo portrait of the emperor Augustus, c. 41–54 CE (Open Access/The Metropolitan Museum of Art)

March: Dido mourns with Aeneas's sword before her, Master of the Chronique scandaleuse (active 1493–1510) (Digital image courtesy of the Getty's Open Content Program)

April: Sophonisbe, Nicolas Régnier (1588–1677) (© Creative Commons 4.0/François de Dijon)

May: Coin (aureus) of Trajan (Digital image courtesy of the Getty's Open Content Program)

June: Statuette of a goddess, likely Ceres or Juno, c. 50–75 CE (Digital image courtesy of the Getty's Open Content Program)

July: Bust of Ovid, first century CE (© Creative Commons 4.0/Lucasw)

August: Death of Pliny the Elder, Histoires prodigieuses, Pierre Boaistuau (1517–1566) (© Creative Commons 4.0/Wellcome Collection)

New

Explore and Encounter Latin Like Never Before

Designed to engage and delight novice and intermediate learners, these Latin readers use limited, high-frequency vocabulary and copious images to support comprehension. Explore Latin provides immersive introductions to the ancient world, using one hundred unique Latin words or fewer. Topics introduced in the Explore Latin series are further developed by the lively illustrated stories presented in the Encounter Latin novellas. Each Explore Latin reader also establishes a core vocabulary that significantly overlaps with the words and phrases used in its corresponding novellas, which in turn build on a shared vocabulary across four levels of increasing difficulty.

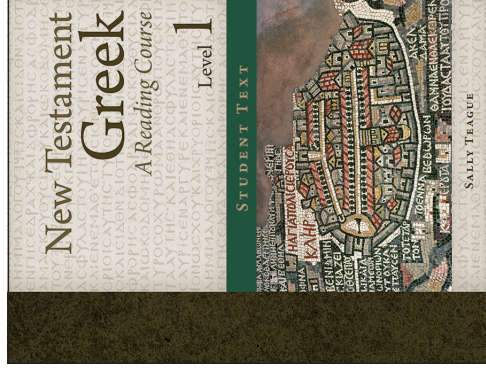

Vocabulary Building

Be sure to check www.BOLCHAZY.com for the latest additions to these series!

New

A Student-Friendly Approach to Ancient Greek

New Testament Greek: A Reading Course is a clear, step-by-step approach to the fundamentals of biblical Greek. In two levels, learners encounter all of the grammar that they need to read the New Testament in its original language. Concepts are presented in small, manageable increments, followed by short exercises that promote mastery. Abundant opportunities for practice allow learners to proceed at a pace appropriate for their goals and needs—a wealth of drills and readings make this text ideal for high school students or those engaged in independent study! Levels 1 and 2 of the student text are each accompanied by a teacher's manual and a workbook with its own teacher's manual.

Logical and methodical presentation of topics encourages reading fluency and an awareness of language-learning strategies. From the beginning, learners encounter carefully chosen unadapted passages that reinforce key vocabulary and grammar. Upon completing both levels, learners will have read excerpts from more than 1,500 biblical verses!

Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers, Inc.

1000 Brown Street, Unit 301
Wauconda, IL 60084 USA

www.bolchazy.com

Roman Calendar 2025–2026

New from Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers

